Father Wheeler To Address Graduates

First R.O.T.C. Students To Get Commissions

The first students of Loyola College to complete the full course in Military Science offered by the Army here will receive their commissions in ceremonies to be held here, June 5. Colonel John L. Keefe, Chief of ROTC training for this area, will deliver the main address and administer the familiar oath of allegiance to the new Second Lieutenants.

A total of twenty-two seniors will receive their commissions. For twenty-one of them, assignments will be to the United States Active Reserve, pending their assignment some time in the next twenty-four months. When called to active duty, the new officers will first go to the basic school of whatever branch they have chosen.

Gunning To Regular Army

Cadet Colonel Edward G. Gunning is the only graduating officer to receive his Regular Army commission at the June 5 ceremonies. His application for commission in the Infantry was accepted several months ago, and he will report immediately after being sworn in to Fort Vinning, Georgia, the basic school of his branch.

Since Loyola's ROTC program administers a general military training rather than any particular phase of Army activity, the class of '55 has had the chance to choose almost any branch of the Army.

Six of them chose the Artillery; four chose Infantry, and three picked Finance. Armor and Medical Service also got three each, while Ordinance, Adjutant General's Corps and Military Intelligence drew one apiece.

Joins In Second Year

To the twenty-two receiving their commissions at this time, it has been a difficult journey, since they all joined the ROTC in their sophomore year, when it first appeared at Loyola.

Because of their late start, they were forced to "double up" last year and take the courses which are presently given to freshmen and juniors.

Three more members of the class will receive their commissions either later this summer or next year.

Class Of '55 Ravano, Noted Shipowner Set For A Gets Honorary Degree Busy Week

Parent-senior Mass in the Chapel, followed by a communion breakfast, will inaugurate the annual Senior Week at 8:00 o'clock on Sunday, May 29. There is a proposed drag shore party for Monday; at 7:00 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Emerson Hotel will be held the senior banquet, featuring a guest comedian.

Party And Dance

Tentatively scheduled for Wednesday evening is the annual faculty-senior banquet on campus, and for Thursday there is an all-day stag party at Jim Donohue's shore home. Friday evening, the annual farewell dance will be held at Cameo Hall with music by Reds Popoli. Practice for graduation will be held on campus at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Commencement Sunday

Closing the week of festivities are three events on Sunday, June fifth: Baccalaureate Mass in Our Lady's Chapel at 9 a.m., commissioning of Senior Reserve Officers at 4:30, and commencement exercises at 6:00 in front of the statue of Our Lady.

Committees scheduling the events have set the costs for the week at approximately fourteen dollars per senior, payable in small installments.

Appian Society Schedules Dance

A dance for the benefit of the Loyola College Scholarship Fund will be sponsored by the Appian Society on Saturday evening, May 28, from 9 until 1 p.m. The dance will be informal and will be held in the Main Ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The music will be provided by Hayes Russell and his orchestra and tickets are $2.50, available at the door.

First Scholarship Awarded

The Appian Society, an association of Italian-American business and professional men, began a fund for a scholarship for a Loyola College student last year. The first scholarship has been awarded to an incoming freshman. This dance is being held to augment the fund.

Mr. Vincent Pirrone is President of the Appian Society and Dr. Frank Vanni, an alumnus of '39, is chairman of the Loyola College Scholarship Committee. Loyola College students are cordially invited.

NEW READING COURSE

A new reading course will be offered this summer by the Summer Division of Loyola College. Those interested should consult the Evening and Summer School Division.

Rev. Ferdinand C. Wheeler, S.J.

Commencement Exercises will be held on Sunday, June 5, at 6:00 p.m., on the lawn of the campus, weather permitting. The Very Reverend William F. Maloney, S.J., Provincial of the Maryland Province of the Society of Jesus will preside at the conferring of degrees upon 160 students of the Day and Evening Colleges.

The address to the graduates will be presented by the Reverend Ferdinand C. Wheeler, S.J.

Father Wheeler is a former President of Loyola High School and was at one time Rector of St. Isaac Jogues Novitiate, Wernersville, Penna., and a Rector of Woodstock College. At the Commencement Exercises he will receive the Carroll Medal as an outstanding alumnus of the College.

Dacturate To Be Conferred

Part of the commencement program will be the bestowing of a Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree, honoris causa, on Mr. Alberto Ravano.

Mr. Ravano, born in Quinto, a suburb of Genoa, Italy, first came in contact with Jesuit Education in Genoa, where he studied at the Lyceo Classico of D'Arecco.

Mr. Alberto Ravano

He is owner of ten navigation companies located throughout the world.

Active also in the textile, real estate, and finance fields, he is, besides, a director of the Bank of Rome and a recognized expert in the field of admiralty law.

Mr. Ravano has twice received awards of distinction at the hands of Pius XI, for outstanding work in the Christian community.

Doctors Charles B. Whittle and Leo J. Goldbach will receive the annual Jubilee Medal Commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation from Loyola.

The Baccalaureate Mass will be celebrated at 9:00 a.m. on June 5 in the Alumni Memorial Chapel on campus by the Very Reverend Thomas J. Murray, S.J., President. The Reverend Anthony J. Zeits, S.J., President of Loyola High School, will preach the sermon.

O'Hara Wins Lee Contest

Junior Jim O'Hara won the annual Lee Oratorical Contest, held in Cohn Hall before the student body on May 9. In this, his third winning effort, O'Hara eulogized the Confederate hero of the Civil War, General Robert E. Lee. Others in the contest were freshman Jerry Frese and Paul Flynn, Pete Knapp and Boh Cadigan, from the sophomore class.

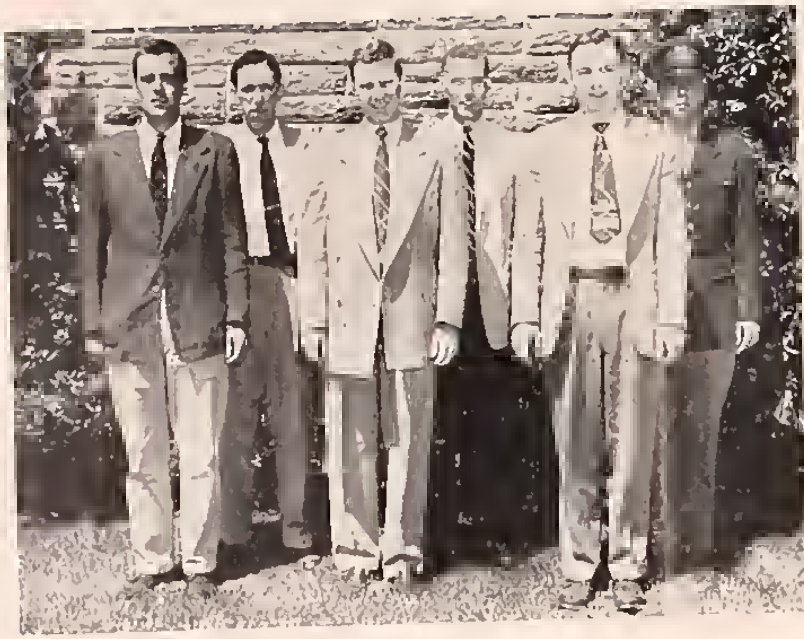

Judges for the contest were Dr. Kaltenbach, Mr. Christ, and Mr. Staley, all members of Loyola's English department. Subjects in the contest included "Modern Catholicism," "John Marshall," and "Courage vs. Materialism."

Frese in Finals

In a flurry of oratory, Loyola was represented by five in the Hearst Oratorical Contest. In the eliminations and semi-finals at the People's Court Building on May 12, O'Hara, Frese and George Nellies of the day school, and Pat Hurtt and Joe Kantorski of the evening school participated.

In these eliminations, Frese won a berth in the finals on May 13, in which he performed very creditably.

Don Swanz, Senior from Georgetown, won first place in the State Finals, and went on to win the Eastern division.

Six Outstanding Seniors Merit Grants In Science, Law, Latin

Special grants for advanced study have been awarded to several members of the graduating Senior Class. Most of the grants are of one year duration but may be renewed.

T. Howland Sanks, departing Greyhound Editor, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to Kings College of the University of London. He will study jurisprudence. He has also been offered a John Ben Snow Scholarship to the New York University Law School.

Classics Grant

Kenneth T. Wright has an offer from the University of Missouri of a teaching assistantship in the classical languages. Such assistantships require the student to spend a certain number of hours each week instructing undergraduates.

Ralston B. Russell has an assistantship to Princeton University. He plans to work directly towards his doctorate. Giby will specialize in physical chemistry.

Math Major

Richard Hunt is the first Loyola math major in several years to win a graduate grant. Dick will go to the University of Maryland where he is to teach freshman algebra and study theoretical analysis.

Two physicists received grants. William J. Kernan has been given an assistantship to the University of Chicago. Bill will work for his Ph.D. in theoretical nuclear physics. The University of Chicago is generally regarded as one of the top three institutions for advanced physics in the United States.

Walter L. Seibyl, the other physics major, is to study nuclear biophysics at the University of Rochester. The former Physics Academy president has an Atomic Energy Commission Scholarship.

Mr. Witte Heads Placement; Planned Career Day Here

If there is any one man who should receive credit for the success of the recent Career Day at Loyola, it is Mr. Cyril M. Witte. This, however, is but one chapter in the life of a teacher who has done much to make this school a better educational institution.

In his dual role as Chairman of the Department of Education in Loyola's graduate division and Director of the Placement Office, he has accomplished many things which, though less sensational than Career Day, have contributed much to the advancement of Loyola College.

After receiving his early education in the public schools of Des Moines, North Dakota, Mr. Witte attended college at Assumption Abbey where he earned his A.B. degree in philosophy. He then stepped into the job of chairman of Loyola's graduate division of education in 1949.

While heading that department, he has maintained a full schedule of classes in the history and philosophy of education. In the past six years his department has grown from one to four full-time professors and from 37 to 110 students.

During these years, Mr. Witte obtained his M.S. in education from the University of Notre Dame. He expects to get his doctorate in education there in August.

As Director of the Placement Office since September, Mr. Witte says that he is guided by the following four aims:

- 1) vocational guidance—so that each student may have a definite objective in mind and select his courses accordingly
- 2) the placement of Loyola graduates where they can best exercise their abilities and Catholic influence.
- 3) good public relations for the College through employers satisfied with the graduates and students pleased with their jobs
- 4) a strong annual organization as the result of satisfied graduates.

Commenting on Career Day, he said: "Following the success of Career Day, a success attributable in large part to the cooperation and response of the students, plans are being formulated to repeat this activity in the coming year."

Mr. Witte hopes to schedule Career Day next year to give the students more time to visit the different panels.

In attributing the success of Career Day to the cooperation of the students is a typical example of the modesty of Mr. Witte. To an extent, of course, this is true, but he fails to point out the large part that he and the committee of friends of Loyola College played in the formulation of Career Day.

An Organizer

Mr. Witte, himself, did much to organize the affair, to get the speakers and to interest the student body. Without him as an organizer, the Career Day might well not have been the great success that it was.

Mr. Witte has already begun working on a Career Day for next year. This time he hopes to give the students even more time to visit the different panels.

Debating Members Hold Club Banquet

The Debating Society, along with Tau Kappa Alpha, held their annual banquet on Friday, April 30, in Xavier Lounge. Guests for the affair were Mr. Herbert R. O'Connor, ex-United States Senator, and former Governor of Maryland; the Rev. Robert L. Hoggson, S.J.; the Rev. William M. Davish, S.J. and Mr. Francis Voci, moderator of the Society, who congratulated the organization on its successful season. In winning seventy-five percent of their debates, the Society entered seven intercollegiate tournaments outside regular competition.

Evening Sodality

Gets New Members

The Reverend Herman I. Storck, S.J., has announced that eleven new members were received into the Sodality of the Graduate Division and Evening College on May 8, 1955. Those received were Norman Barezak, Theresa Bosco, Ray Boynton, John Cooney, Lucy Garvey, Katherine Pepersack, Patricia Pumphrey, Ruth Pumphrey, Margaret Schiavone, Eileen Shea and Josephine Thompson.

Sanks Leaves Hound Post To Study At U. of London

Recently, when the seniors were asked by the Greyhound to name their choice for the member of their class who had contributed most to Loyola in four years here, the majority selected T. Howland Sanks, outgoing editor of the Greyhound, and one of the most outstanding students at Loyola.

The choice was a natural, for almost every phase of school life has felt his stabilizing influence during the past four years. And this was no accident, for when Hal came to Loyola from Mount Saint Joseph, to which he won the first of his many scholarships, he brought with him much experience in activities—debating, journalism and dramatics.

After graduating from the Mount in 1951, he won a scholarship to Loyola. Here Hal began a varied career which will end only with graduation in June.

Typical Day

To re-enact a typical school day, he would rise at about 6:45 in the morning, leave for school, attend Mass, and then take a hasty breakfast in the school cafe (which, by the way, he has often attacked in editorials). Returning to the Greyhound Office, he would put up the Bulletin, take a quick look at his books and be off to class.

Scattered throughout the week would be a maze of meetings and activities to attend. He was regularly present at debate and Student Council meetings, and a flurry of others. After classes, there would be more Greyhound work, an occasional game of tennis or work on a special research project.

Busy Young Man

In the evening, he might work at the now-famous Prince Shop, attend a concert at the Lyric, or meet with other members of the History Academy. Or, if it were a weekend, he could be seen with Pat Herbert, one of the few persons around who could match his sharp wit. There is still much doubt as to where he found time to study for the long line of A's and medals he was able to accumulate.

During his four years, Hal has held offices in almost countless activities. He was President of TKA, the debating fraternity; Vice-President of the Student Council; Vice-President of the Debating Society and Vice-President of Alpha Sigma Nu, the Jesuit honor fraternity. In addition, he was also a member of the International Relations Club, the Humanities Club, the Yearbook Staff, and the History Academy.

Hal Sanks

Outstanding Public Speaker

Besides all this, Sanks founded and was first president of the James Cardinal Gibbons Debating League, won the Jenkins Gold Medal for debating in his junior year and was the state winner of the Hearst Oratorical Contest. In the Eastern Zone finals of the same contest, he was narrowly defeated.

To culminate four years of hard work in a proper manner, Hal was awarded a John Ben Snow Scholarship to the New York University Law School and a Fulbright Scholarship to Kings College of the University of London.

As can be easily seen, Hal Sanks well deserved the title of "Did Most For Loyola," which his fellow students bestowed on him. If his successors can do half as well, they can be proud of their work. But, in any event, Loyola men will be left with a model of activity and hard work to follow in the years to come.

Glee Club Year Ends With May Made President

With the election of Gene May to the office of president, Al Fields, vice-president, Brian Varacalle, secretary and John Buppert, treasurer, the Glee Club ended its formal activities for the year.

Under the direction of Mr. Felice Iula, the singing began in September at the orientation ceremonies, enhanced the Marian Year Program and Loyola Nite, then carolled through the Christmas season in the recital given first in the Chapel and then repeated at Loyola High School, Bon Secour Hospital and Mercy Hospital.

After the second semester began with the Annual Joint Concert, held in conjunction with the Georgetown Visitation Junior College Glee Club, our Glee Club traveled to Georgetown, St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Institute of Notre Dame, Trinity College and Notre Dame of Maryland.

Back home, the Club presented a "first," the student-only program on May 11, and then closed the year's work with participation in the Parents' Day program.

Thirty-two Courses In Summer School

Thirty-two undergraduate courses of study will be offered in the Summer Session of Loyola Evening College from June 6 until July 28, announces the Rev. William Davish, S.J., Dean.

The courses, open to both men and women, will run Mondays through Thursdays from 6:30 to 8:15 and from 8:20 to 10:05 p.m.

Four graduate courses in education will also be scheduled in these evening hours, besides the seven to be offered in morning sessions beginning on June 27.

Campus Activities Elect Officers For Next Year

At their final meetings of the year the various activities and clubs elected new officers for next year. Those chosen take office immediately, and the president of each club or activity automatically has a seat in the Student Council.

Larry Awalt was elected prefect of the Senior Sodality May 9. Other new officers are Joe Kutsner, vice-prefect; Robert Perelli, secretary and Ted Nelson, treasurer. The new officers formally took over at ceremonies held after Sodality Mass on the following Friday.

Bob McGrain was elected president, and Wayne White, secretary of the Classics Academy May 11.

McGrain and White succeed John Tormey and Tom Burch, respectively.

Following the election, Michael Leakan delivered a paper on Plato's Republic.

I.R.C.

Paul Rogers was elected president, and Bob McGrain, secretary of the IRC April 26. Rogers, former secretary, succeeded Sam Ady as president.

John Tormey was re-elected president of the Bellarmine Debating Society. Other new officers are Sam Ady, George Nellies, and Dan Fall—vice-president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

William Raftery was elected president of the Management Club April 27. Other officers, elected one week later, are Brooke McCrystle, vice-president; Isadore Vaccarino, secretary, and John Gallagher, treasurer.

At the Music Club elections, held Friday, May 13, Robert Pula was elected president, replacing Eugene May. Other new officers are Gerald Berch, vice-president; Edward Judge, librarian and Albert Fields, sergeant-at-arms.

The new officers of the Chemistry club are Donald Burton, chairman; Thomas Ruckle, vice-chairman, and Richard Lewandowski, secretary-treasurer.

ASN

Wayne White was unanimously elected president of Alpha Sigma Nu at the meeting of May 18. Sam Ady was elected vice-president, Dan Mackey, Secretary, and Joe Kutsner treasurer. The new officers succeed Ray Gaeng, Lee Russo, Hal Sanks, Gibby Russell and Dick Hunt.

Members of the Physics Academy elected Joe Kutsner president, Joe McCormick vice-president, and Ted Nelson secretary-treasurer.

Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary forensic fraternity, elected Sam Ady president, Tormey vice-president and Dan Mackey secretary.

Editorials

Earlier In The Year . . .

. . . The Greyhound undertook a somewhat passive campaign to improve conditions in the Cafeteria. We wrote editorials and published cartoons and, in general, devoted some amount of space to the satirizing of said cafe. We feel now that something has been accomplished, and wish to devote some space to complimenting the staff for the improved conditions that now exist. A determined effort has been made by the Slater System to keep the cafe cleaner, to improve the food and the service. The students have not done their part, however. We feel that the least the student body could do is to return the favor. Any more complaints that come from the students should be referred right back to them.

We compliment the Slater System for responding to our pleas and fondly hope that a similar response will be forthcoming from the students.

With This Issue Of . . .

. . . The Greyhound, Samuel J. Ady takes over as Editor-in-chief. We wish him all the cooperation and good fortune which we have enjoyed throughout this year. Only six of the fifty-odd staff members are graduating this year. To these we wish the best of luck and want to thank them for all the time and effort they have devoted to the Greyhound.

As retiring Editor (dictator), we want to express our sincere thanks to all who have worked so hard for us this year. Without the patience and diligence of such men as Jim O'Hara, Sam Ady, John Tormey, Bob McGrain, Charlie Wunder, Jim Cole, Bernie Rackmales, Larry Awalt, Joe Kutsner, Bob Baker, Bob Pula, Paul Rogers, Clem Erhardt and all the other staff members, the Greyhound would not have appeared once, much less fifteen times. In the four years we have been a member of the Greyhound staff, we have never seen such wonderful cooperation and willingness to work. This time last year, there was only one staff member who had ever made up a page before; now there are twelve experienced editors. A complete business file, a staff file, a cut file and a photograph file have been organized. A daily bulletin has been published, and many publicity releases have emanated from the Office.

To the wonderful bunch of writers, artists, photographers and typists who have accomplished so much, we say "Thanks! and keep up the good work!"

T. H. S.

With A Change . . .

. . . in the Editorial Staff, the new editors wish to express their heartfelt thanks to the outgoing staff members, who, fortunately enough this year, are just six in number. That the Greyhound, this last year, was a job well done is a special tribute to the many hours of hard and fine work which these members have contributed. A special debt is owed to the outgoing editor, Hal Sanks, who has contributed so much time and effort not only to the Greyhound, but also to every phase of school life. Into whatever field of endeavor Hal goes in the future, we wish him every success, but already know that he will do his usual fine job. We should take note here of another outstanding member of the staff who is leaving for the seminary this coming September, namely Jim O'Hara. Although we feel that it is hardly necessary, the Greyhound also wishes Jim every success in the future.

Two Sundays Ago . . .

. . . a Parents Day was held. Both students and parents who attended will agree that it was a fine idea and a success. We have no quarrel with those who attended, but such an affair would be even more of a success if more parents were able to enjoy the opportunity of meeting the faculty and the College under such pleasant circumstances. Although the attendance was good, it could have been better if Parents Day were to become an annual outing rather than something held just intermittently as has been done in the past several years. Fortunately, the new President of the Student Council, Tom Burch plans to hold Parents Day again next year. However, one man cannot effectively do the entire job. The cooperation of others is needed. It should also be noted here that the primary responsibility of Parents Day will fall on the incoming President of the Student Council who will succeed Burch next year. With a little bit of help from all concerned, Parents Day could well become one of the most profitable events of the school year.

Summer Less Fortunate For Less Muscular

by Charles A. Wunder

To the well-muscled men, summer-time is the ideal time of the year. It is under the guise of healthful exercise that they exhibit their torsos to the beauties and flex for the fellows. To the leaner lads, however, it can be the most trying of all the seasons. Consider this problem from the thin man's point of view. Would you not be ashamed if you couldn't muster a shadow on even the sunniest days.

Lotion With Pipe Cleaner

Can you blame the ninety-seven pound weakling (before he lost weight) for being embarrassed when he applies suntan lotion with a pipe cleaner? And what about the guy who doesn't reflect light, but merely refracts it?

Certainly those endowed with muscles should consider the feelings of their skinnier friends. I don't propose that we do away with swimming or even exhibitionism on the beach—merely that some equitable arrangement be enacted whereby "before" men are shielded from the uncharitable barbs of the "after" men. Perhaps they could be issued pin-stripped swim suits with a special place reserved for a distinguishing tag. On this tag would be a notarized certificate, stating that this man, albeit skinny, scrawny and emaciated is a fine singer, won a soap box derby or performed some other feat which compensates for his physique.

Other Attributes

I had a good friend who overcame his thinness (he once cut his hand while washing his shoulder blades) and married a very rich and beautiful girl. It seems that she had a fixation on his ability to recite the alphabet backwards. He stood at Baltimore and Charles street advertising his mental feat for three weeks before he was able to prove that beauty was only skin deep. Actually, he couldn't go any further.

Another detriment to this sort of person is the swing to shorts as accepted male dress.

What this country needs is a little clarity, if not modesty. When in Sweden do as Swedes do; but when in America, do as Romans do . . . wear togas.

the skeptic tank

by Bob Pula

In the course of the now expiring academic year, readers (?) of this column have received instruction in such varied fields as geopolitics, communication—the arts of man in general. It is the profound dream of this prophet that his words have been not for naught. (Something like tit for tat. Don't let it detain you.)

In this, the last issue of fiscal year 1955, I would like, by way of synthesis, to present a few thoughts on folk heroes. Please find herein everything that I stand for. (Over the summer I hope to discover a few more things for which to stand and thereby extend the life of this column.)

Significant Crock

1955 witnessed in these United States a remarkable exhumation of a semi-legendary character with the unlikely name of Davy Crockett. (Crock what?) His current prominence gains significance only when we consider the phenomenon of his universal acceptance within the bosom of the masses. (Who are they? Where am I? What does it all mean?) It would seem that the American people demand a Hero, and if he happens to have accidental historical justification, so much the better.

I find, however, that Davy doesn't strike me 'neath the diaphragm whereat dwells my god of red, white and blue. I just don't want to man the barricades at the drop of a coonskin cap. The Bull of Davy Crockett makes me reach for my musket, but for different reasons than those envisioned by its creators.

Ancestor Worship

Here, then, is my own folk hero—one who answers my needs. If you, too, are a seeker of the Ultimate, read on and find here your pedestal-supported ego-projection. I have created him for us. Share with me, him. His name is Robin Jess-Dalton, a name which pleases me because of its antique, noble resonance. In Robin Jess-Dalton our ancestor worship propensities are satisfied.

Our Hero reaches a height of four feet, eleven point nine inches. His weight is ninety-seven point nine pounds. He is, of course, a weakling. This is very handy, because we have in Robin not only a hero, but also one to whom we can feel superior. Dandy, no?

Are you conversant with those qualities of character usually called virtues? Think them over; reverse them, and there you have the character of Robin Jess-Dalton. This is good, friends, because honest. When Hero Dalton commits murder, he makes no bones about it. He likes to commit murder.

Caveat Widows And Children

When he sneaks up behind some unsuspecting widow and lifts her loosely clutched purse, he shows no signs of remorse. He is fond of money for its own sake. If it comes from an aged widow, he is especially delighted because he knows that her ability to retaliate is minimal. As she shrieks in dismay, Robin provides a cackling obligato and thereby achieves his theme-song, a work of evil counterpoint.

In politics he is a realist. Says he: "Votes, like golf clubs, are a commodity. Buy 'em."

Of opium he says: "Opium is the opiate of the people. Git 'em addicted."

Correction

In the May 11 issue of the Greyhound, it was erroneously reported that James P. Durkan had received a scholarship to the University of Maryland Medical School. The article should have read that Durkan had been received for the fall term at the Medical School.

Baseball Team Ends Year In Third Place

by Joe Manz

By dropping both games of a doubleheader to Washington College, the Loyola baseball team closed out the season in third place on May 19. The two losses gave the Greyhounds a final record of eleven victories and nine defeats.

Loyola got off to early one-run leads in each game but the Shoremen came from behind to win both contests.

In the first game, although Jack Benzing gave up only five hits, the Shoremen scored seven runs to triumph by a 7-3 score. The big blow for Washington was a three run homer by first baseman Joe Borbely in the third inning.

Foreman Hurls

In the second game Gary Foreman pitched for Loyola and held a one run lead through the first five innings. Foreman scored the lone Loyola run in the third inning as he led off with an infield single and went to second on an over-throw of first base. After Bob Benzing walked, right-fielder Ed Dentz singled to center field to score Foreman.

However, in the sixth inning the Shoremen combined two infield walks and a Texas-league single to center to score three runs. Washington added an insurance run in the seventh inning to make the final score 4-1.

Right hander Leo Gillis hurled a three hitter for the Shoremen. The twin triumph gave Washington the Northern division championship of the Mason Dixon conference.

Jays Downed

On May 18, the Greyhounds defeated Johns Hopkins for the second time this season, scoring a 7-1 victory at Homewood. Although he walked nine, Joe Mace was the winning pitcher. John Quinn led the Loyola hitting attack as he drove in two runs with a double and a triple.

Although they failed to win the championship the Greyhounds never-the-less had a fairly successful season. The team started fast in league play and won five of their first six games, losing only to Catholic U.

After losing two games to Baltimore U, the Hounds came back to defeat Towson Teachers, Mount Saint Mary's twice, and Hopkins. Then the Reitzmen dropped double-headers to Bridgewater and Washington College to close the season with a final Mason-Dixon record of ten victories and seven defeats.

Streaks To Play In Two 'Mural Post-Exam Tilts

The intramural tennis doubles championship will be decided as soon as the exams are over. The finals will pit the team of Bunny Kirby and John Votta vs. the team of Walt Schneid and Moe Schilling.

Softball will also come to a close the week of the 29th of May as the Regimentals and the Knothole Gang play on Monday the thirty-first. The winner of this game will play the Rebels. The victors of this game are also expected to play the Streaks for the championship in the same week.

Volleyball courts will also be busy the Monday following exams when the Olympians and Davy Crockett's Crew tangle. The winner of this tilt will oppose the Elite Giants. The Streaks have already reached the finals.

The Streaks will be out to win their third and possibly fourth title of the school year. Sparking the Streaks in softball are Jim Young, winner of the intramural award, Jim Allenbaugh, Fred Cox, and Jack Kohlhepp.

GYM JOTTINGS

FIRST REITZ EJECTION

by Larry Hart

With summer almost upon us, work just begins for Loyola's Athletic Staff. Besides the usual work completing the various schedules, Coach Lefty Reitz and yours truly plan to put out an all-sports brochure for the Alumni. Besides this, the Athletic Association also plans to revise its Handbook.

LOYOLA'S 1955-1956 basketball schedule is just about complete. Outside competition such as Niagara, Siena, Georgetown, Spring Hill, Seton Hall and St. Francis of Brooklyn are listed.

The Athletic Department is also hoping to have its annual basketball brochure printed this coming year. If so, it will be the first time since 1946.

DO YOU KNOW that: Loyola and several Maryland and Washington schools had planned to form an inter-collegiate Ice Hockey League in 1938? The Greyhound pucksters played several informal games with club teams and Georgetown University.

SEVERAL FORMER Greyhound writers and Loyola athletes are very active in the local sports world. Included are Vince Bagli and Joe Croghan of WBAL; Paul Menton of the Evening Sun; Jim McManns, Athletic Director of the National Broadcasting Company; Joe Kelly of the Washington Star, and Gus Gribbin of the Sun.

WHEN COACH Lefty Reitz was ejected from the Bridgewater game it was the first time that the Loyola mentor had been thumbed out of a game in his thirty-five years as a player and coach. His ejection made the Northern Division complete in the above matter. Previous to that game, he had been the only coach never ejected from a game. Quite a record!

AS THIS school year draws to an end, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all members of the Baltimore Press and T.V. for their wonderful assistance in giving Loyola excellent publicity.

WITH THE END of the intramural athletic season, Lefty Reitz has announced that Walt Reiter has been appointed the new Commissioner of Intramural Athletics. Ed Fick, who is graduating, was commissioner of this year. Reiter will begin his new job at the beginning of school in September.

Reiter is a junior, social science major. He graduated from Calvert Hall in 1952. He transferred to Loyola from Georgetown at the beginning of this year. Plans for intramurals next season are still indefinite.

Five Seniors Start Last Lacrosse Game

by Jack Shriver

Last Wednesday the Sho'men from Washington College downed the Greyhounds by the score of 9-8 in overtime. Washington was paced by HESSIE HOWARD who scored four times and JOE SEIVOLD who scored three. The Greyhounds were paced by Bill Phillips with three goals and Russ Hildebrand and Jack Burke with two each.

Five seniors started their final game for Loyola. They were Phillips, Burke, Bob Gross, Ed Cunningham and Jack Shriver.

Early Lead

Washington College opened the scoring early in the first quarter and led 4-1 at the quarter. The Hounds, however, cut the lead in the second quarter to a 6-3 advantage at intermission. The third quarter was a seesaw affair with the Sho'men denting the nets once for the only score.

Trailing 7-3 at the start of the fourth quarter, the Hounds played perhaps their best ball of the season as they tallied four times to knot the score at 7-7. In the final two minutes the Hounds peppered goalie John Parker, but to no avail.

Tallies Twice

In the overtime the Sho'men tallied twice to take a 9-7 lead, only to have the Hounds bounce back with a score. Time ran out, however, and the Hounds dropped their sixth game in nine starts. Washington College's goalie, John Parker, had 35 saves for the afternoon.

Season's Record

The season's record of two wins, six losses and one tie, while not impressive, is an indication that Loyola's lacrosse fortunes are on the rise. Meeting top-flight competition at almost every turn, the Hounds were simply outclassed by Maryland, Virginia and Hopkins.

Prospects are bright, however, for next year, since all but five members of the team will return. Coach Charlie Wenzel was quick to point out that in the last two games the team showed a marked improvement.

The entire close defense will return. The midfield should also be much improved by a year's experience and will be led by Ed McFadden, this year's high scorer. With Dick Blackshire, John Kirby, Chuck Franklin and Russ Hildebrand retraining, the attack will also be in fine shape.

The situation in the goal will also be good, as both Bill Flattery and Joe Murray return. Bill was one of the outstanding features of the Hound team this season. He was especially sharp in the Washington-Lee game in which he stopped more than twenty General shots.

Coach Praises Doubles Teams

Tennis coach Vincent P. Colimore looks forward to a successful season next year, since all the members of the team, save Bill Sturm, will return from this year's undefeated team.

"You Never Know"

However, Mr. Colimore warned, "You never know what may come up. Many of the competing colleges draw excellent players from out of town." Western Maryland's top doubles duo, Henry Taitt and Wray Mowbray, who defeated Loyola's Waide Howley and Frank Dickson, are both from Cambridge, Massachusetts.

All but two Hound netmen, Howley and Skip Chard, both of whom come from Connecticut, are Baltimore products.

Talent And Depth

"This year's team had strength all down the line," enthused Mr. Colimore. "From third position on down, all the players—Chard, Bob O'Connor, Jack Cummings, Mickey Mohler and Mitch Twardowicz—are of equal ability."

He singled out the three doubles teams as the most effective part of the squad, commenting on their balance, aggressive net games and powerful overhead shots.

Double Takes

Evidence of their effectiveness was shown in the matches with Hopkins and Catholic U., when Loyola had lost three out of six singles matches, but came back to sweep the doubles events in straight sets.

Coach Colimore particularly praised the teamwork of O'Connor and Mohler. "They have been improving with each match and have been beating strong opposition."

Brown Voted Court Captain

Athletic letters and sweaters were awarded to the deserving athletes by the various coaches at the assembly on May 18.

Jim Young was awarded the Intramural trophy by Commissioner Ed Fick; Coach Reitz in turn presented Ed with some beer glasses. Larry Hart received an alarm clock for his fine work this year.

Last Saturday night, the athletes enjoyed themselves over a big feed in the cafeteria at the annual Athletic banquet which included roast beef and turkey as well as many other delicacies.

Captains Elected

The highlight of the evening was the election of captains for the various sports for the coming year. They are as follows: Quinn and Dentz, Soccer; Brown, Basketball; Feild, Cross Country; Penn, Swimming; D'Orazio, wrestling; Roche, Golf; Quinn and Benzing, Baseball; Brynn, Track; Howley and Dickson, Tennis; Buckmaster and Kinkel, Lacrosse.

Hounds Edge Out Randolph-Macon In M-D Tennis Tournament Finals

Loyola's fighting tennis team defeated the Yellowjackets of Randolph-Macon College, 5-4, to win the 1955 Mason-Dixon Conference tennis championship. The match was played last Saturday at Evergreen.

Mickey Mohler and Bob O'Connor, playing in the number three doubles position, clinched the championship for the Hounds, who at that time were winning 4-3, by downing the yellowjacket duo of Jim Taylor and Bill Frasier in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3.

Maryland Intercollegiate

The Hounds will attempt to add to their laurels, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, by competing in the Maryland Intercollegiate event which will be held at Clifton Park. Such big teams as Navy, Georgetown and Maryland have been invited to enter players in this tourney.

First Since 1919

This Mason-Dixon tennis victory was the first for Loyola since 1919, when Jerry Laroque and Jim Lacy led the team. This win, together with the win posted by the golf team, gave Loyola the distinction of being the only school in the Mason-Dixon league this year to win more than one championship. The Hounds, in winning, had to fight back to defeat a talented Randolph-Macon team which had won ten straight matches in the Southern Division. Lanny Ross, the number one man for Randolph-Macon and the best player seen this year on the Evergreen courts coupled his good service with an all around strong game to defeat

Waide Howley in straight sets.

The yellowjackets made it two straight in the singles matches as Peck Lau downed Frank Dickson, 6-1, 0-6, 6-2.

Win Next Three

Skip Chard, Boh O'Connor and Jack Cummings put Loyola back in front as they downed their respective R-M opponents. Chard, Hound number three man faced Bill Frasier and defeated him easily 6-1, 6-4. O'Connor used his strong service against Jim Sowers and downed the Virginian in straight sets, also, by scores of 6-2, 6-2. Jack Cummings duplicated O'Connor's feat by defeating his opponent, Bob Perry, by the same score which O'Connor had posted.

Mick Mohler Loses

In the final singles match of the day, Jim Taylor handed Loyola's Mick Mohler his only loss of the season by defeating him in three sets 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. Up to this time, Mohler had won ten straight matches and was Loyola's only unbeaten player.

With the singles completed, the score was three to three. In that first and crucial doubles match the Hound team of Skip Chard and Jack Cummings defeated the R-M duo of Peck Lau and Bob Perry in two sets 6-2, 6-3. In the number one doubles match, Waide Howley and Frank Dickson suffered their second loss of the season by dropping a close, three set match to Ross and Sowers 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Before this match was over, however, Boh O'Connor and Mick Mohler had bested their opponents in the number three doubles match by scores of 7-5, 6-3, thus giving Loyola its first tennis championship in six years.

Hopkins Blasted 9-0; Top Three Avenge Defeats

Waide Howley, Frank Dickson and Skip Chard walloped Johns Hopkins' top three netters who had upset them in the Hounds 6-3 win earlier, as Loyola closed the regular season with its seventh shutout, 9-0, here May 18.

Howley shellacked Ed Haberman, 6-3, 6-0; Dickson's cross-court shots at the net jolted Al Greenberg, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0; and Chard handed Ron Creamer his only Mason-Dixon loss, 6-4, 6-3.

Win 105 Of 123 Games

While compiling a 14-0 record, the Hounds dropped only eighteen games out of 123, as Mickey Mohler and the Chard-Cummings doubles team went unbeaten. The Dickson - Howley and Mohler - O'Connor combos lost one match each, to Western Maryland and Bucknell, respectively.

Cummings had two early-season losses, against Catholic U. and Bucknell. Howley, Dickson and O'Connor dropped three matches each; and Chard posted a 10-4 record.

Howley Outlasts Bell

Loyola had clinched the Northern Division title by whitewashing Washington College here, May 11.

In that match, Waide Howley, co-captain with Frank Dickson, avenged a 1954 loss to Bell. But it took him an hour and forty-three minutes to win, 6-1, 7-9, 10-8, after blowing a 5-2 lead in the second set.

After losing practically all his points by hitting into the net, Howley finally broke Bell's serve to take a 9-8 lead in the third set. Howley's first three serves were popped back, and he laid away the points with overhead smashes. The first bounded over the fence, and the next two banged high off the screen.

McCullough Finishes Second As Trackmen Close Season

Loyola's cindermen ended their season on May 13 and 14 with a trip to the Mason-Dixon championships in Washington, where they compiled a total of only six points. Charlie McCullough proved to be the leading scorer as he took second in the shot-put with a heave of 45'6 1/4". Jim Vaeth was the only other scorer as he took fourth in the low hurdles.

High Hopes

Coach McElroy has hopes for next year's squad, which will have the same members back with the exception of Bob Cucuel, this year's captain. Mac has been well pleased with the effort shown by such newcomers as Pete Voight, Pete Franks, Tony Demma, Jerry Kauper, Jerry Frese, Pat McDonough, Andy Maybo and Joe Chairs. Also returning will be McCullough, Vaeth, Dick Coyle, Dick Barranger and Dave Bryan. With these boys and the prospect for talent in next year's freshman class, the Green and Grey will attempt to improve the '55 record of one win and three losses.

The same day as the Mason-Dixon finals, Ed McComas, 1953 Loyola shot-put champion, who quit school in February, bettered both winning M-D marks for the shot-put and discus.

Pitching for the Baltimore Olympic Club at a triangular meet in Quantico, Va., McComas broke the stadium shot-put mark by six inches with a 48'4 1/2" heave. Hampden-Sydney's Frazer won the M-D with 47'3".

In the same meet, Ed captured discus honors with a heave of 137' 10 1/4". Love, of Johns Hopkins, won tourney laurels with 135'4".

The throw by McComas which broke the stadium record was not his best toss. A few weeks before, in Baltimore, Ed hurled the ball 49 feet, setting a new S.A. record.

Loyola's 1954-55 Championship Teams

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Jim Cole, Sports Editor

Loyola's annual Athletic Association Banquet was held in the cafeteria last Saturday. Present at this banquet were fourteen seniors who have received their last Loyola athletic awards. By sports, these men were: Captain Tom (Beetle) Bailey, John Mannion and Jim Donohue, who played soccer-way back in the fall. Bob Cucuel was captain of both the basketball and track teams. Loyola will really miss this likeable "old man" from Greenwich. On the swimming team were Larry Donegan, captain, and Frank Simansky. Spanky Burke led the wrestling team. Spank brought the 137-pound title to Loyola in the conference wrestling tournament.

The lacrosse team had the highest representation from the senior class. The Indian game saw seniors Bob Gross, Jack Shriver, Jack Burke, Ed Gunning and Bill Phillips fly Green and Grey colors for the last time against Washington College. The last of the aforementioned group, Bill Phillips, also has done an outstanding job as president of the Athletic Association. The baseball team has second baseman-captain Jim Donohue and pitcher Tom Bailey graduating. Dick Synder, Burke Crosby and Dick Hunt are the three linksmen who are departing, while Bill Sturm is the only member of the championship tennis team who will not return.

Good Year Forecast

Next year should be one of the best in the history of athletics at Loyola. All Greyhound sports will be well outfitted with returning lettermen. The basketball and baseball teams should be especially strong, not only in the Mason-Dixon, but in non-conference games as well.

Snyder Bests Welinder; Team Takes Fifth M-D

Loyola's golfers won their fifth straight Mason-Dixon team championship at Mount Pleasant on Monday, May 16. The Hound's four man total of 677 was twenty-eight strokes better than the runner-up, Western Maryland.

Dick Snyder edged Loyola teammate Ivar Welinder in a sudden death playoff round to win the individual golf championship.

Blows Lead

Having more than overcome a two stroke lead by Freshman Welinder in the morning round, Snyder, a senior, blew his lead with a double bogie on the thirty-fifth and ended in a 159 tie.

In the play-off round, Snyder was on the edge of the green with two fine shots, and playing a cautious game, finished with a par five. Meanwhile, Welinder, caught in the rough after a straying tee shot, ended with a six.

Paul Kohlhepp and Jimmie Roche comprised the remaining duo of the team. Sophomore Roche led the morning round with a seventy-eight, but blew up with a closing ninety-one.

Loyola College's golfing Hounds continued their old mastery over Mason-Dixon opponents by defeating the Blue Jays of Johns Hopkins, 7 1/2 to 1 1/2. The Hounds first and second squads shutout the Jays 3-0; while the third team, Paul Kohlhepp and Burke Crosby, finished in a tie, 1 1/2 to 1 1/2. Ivar Welinder, Dick Snyder and Jim Roche played excellent rounds as the Green and Grey took their third straight conference win. They have also beaten Western Maryland and Mt. St. Marys.

Places Second

Five days later, the squad traveled to Westminster to participate in the Western Maryland Invitational. Loyola placed second by a single stroke when Barry Montgomery dropped a fifteen-foot putt on the thirty-sixth hole, giving Juniata College of Pennsylvania a narrow win. Gettysburg finished third, followed by Johns Hopkins and Western Maryland. Bill West of Juniata grabbed the low-score honors with 143. The Hounds' Welinder finished a stroke behind. Snyder shot a 73-76, 149; while Roche chipped in a 157.

MEMBERS of the championship golf team are (standing) Burke Crosby and Paul Kohlhepp; (kneeling) Dick Hunt, Dick Snyder and Ivar Welinder. Not pictured is Charlie Burke.
